

Bill Salmon's Ten Moral Maxims

1. Tell the truth always, or don't say anything at all.
2. Know why I believe what I believe, then follow my beliefs
3. Walk my talk, renegotiate agreements when I can't
4. Appreciate those different from me, foster an attitude of learning from everyone
5. Some things are worth risking my life for
6. Don't be afraid of calculated risks, they warm the spirit
7. I am what I am when I'm alone, and looking in the mirror is the best test of who and what I am
8. Value the preciousness of life, and awe at the intricacies of our bodies
9. Be a model for young people to emulate
10. Leave the world a better place for having lived, be remembered for something good
4. Be kind, and listen
